DISCOVER WHAT'S NEW AT AREA ATTRACTIONS

EACH YEAR BRINGS BIG SURPRISES TO THE ST. LOUIS SCENE. TAKE TIME TO SEE WHAT'S NEW AT SOME OF YOUR FAVORITE ATTRACTIONS.

MISSOURI'S COASTER CAPITAL

With the addition of its ninth roller coaster, Six Flags St. Louis cements its reign as the home to more roller coasters than any other theme park in Missouri. The newest steel coaster, Boomerang, opens in spring 2013 and will send riders soaring through 1,650 feet of steel twists, turns and inversions at up to 50 mph. The trains are pulled backward up a 125-foot lift hill before being launched through a half loop, a right half corkscrew, a left half corkscrew, another half loop and finally a full loop before climbing a second lift hill. Staying true to its name, Boomerang will then take riders full circle by blasting them back through the twists, turns and inversions again—backward.

Sea Lion Sound at Saint Louis Zoo

SPLISH SPLASH

Now you can come face-to-face with some of the Saint Louis Zoo's most popular animal residents. Visitors can't get enough of the newest wet and wild exhibit, Sea Lion Sound. Rising over the central hub of the zoo in Forest Park, the 1.5-acre, $18 million habitat includes a 35-foot-long underwater viewing tunnel—the first in North America—where visitors will see the animals swimming around them. Marine-mammal residents include 11 California sea lions and four harbor seals. An 811-seat arena offers shows where the marine mammals will display their natural swimming, diving, balancing and sliding behaviors daily during the summer and in weekend shows in the spring and fall. Daily sea-lion feedings and keeper chats also get visitors close to the sleek and powerful animals. General admission to the Saint Louis Zoo is always free.

WHO AM I?

CAN YOU GUESS WHO IS WHO? CALIFORNIA SEA LIONS LIVE ALONG THE WEST COAST OF THE U.S. IN THE PACIFIC OCEAN. THEY CAN ROTATE THEIR HIND FLIPPERS UNDER THEIR BODIES SO THEY CAN WALK ON LAND. SEA LIONS ALSO HAVE EXTERNAL EAR FLAPS AND THEY CAN STAY UNDERWATER FOR

UP TO 20 MINUTES AT A TIME. THE MALES CAN GROW UP TO EIGHT FEET IN LENGTH AND REACH 800 POUNDS. HARBOR SEALS LIVE IN THE NORTH ATLANTIC AND PACIFIC OCEANS. THEY MOVE ON LAND IN AN INCH-WORMLIKE MOTION AND THEY HAVE NO EXTERNAL EAR FLAPS.

EXPANSIVE ART

Now you can see more of the world-class collection at the Saint Louis Art Museum during your visit. The museum's highly anticipated expansion opens in late June of 2013, adding more than 200,000 sq. ft. to the famed institution. What is the venerable museum doing with 30 percent more space, designed by noted British architect Sir David Chipperfield? New galleries, an underground parking facility, a café and a restaurant are just the beginning. The project also includes renovation of more than 13,000 sq. ft. in the existing structure as well as a Grand Stair transition between the expansion and the current museum. The $162-million project means visitors will now be able to view more works from the museum's collection that places it among the top 10 comprehensive art museums in the nation. Called the East Building, the expansion's exterior finish is dark, polished concrete and Missouri River aggregate. Skylights and floor-to-ceiling windows enhance the space. Hungry art lovers will enjoy the new restaurant, which overlooks the lush vista of Art Hill. A new outdoor sculpture by renowned British sculptor Andy Goldsworthy consisting of 24 ten-foot high Arches will be housed in a new courtyard that joins the Main Building and the new East Building. Admission to the Saint Louis Art Museum is always free.

Walkabout

Take a stroll through St. Louis' unique neighborhoods

WHICH ST. LOUIS ARE YOU VISITING IN 2013? PICK A NEW-TO-YOU NEIGHBORHOOD TO SEE A WHOLE DIFFERENT SIDE. ST. LOUIS IS DEFINED BY ITS MANY VIBRANT NEIGHBORHOODS—HISTORIC, HIP, CHARMING, TRENDY AND READY TO WELCOME VISITORS. TRY THESE SUGGESTIONS AND BE SURE TO SCAN THE DINING, SHOPPING AND EVENTS LISTINGS IN THIS GUIDE FOR MORE.

Downtown

PLAY The Peabody Opera House welcomes you to year-round entertainment in historic surroundings. If sports is more your game, all three major league venues for baseball, football and hockey action are connected by MetroLink light rail. Downtown events include a massive St. Patrick's Day parade and celebration in March, the tops-in-the-nation Fair St. Louis Fourth of July event, Taste of St. Louis in September and Holiday Magic in December.

SHOP The new Mercantile Exchange—The MX for short—presents a retail collective housing curated versions of some of St. Louis' most interesting, locally owned boutiques. Nearby, Washington Avenue's one-of-a-kind shops bring the world downtown for your shopping amusement. Look for ladies' and men's unmentionables at Beverly's

Hill and Boxers, fashion at CeCi or the L'ove STL store at Lumière Place Casino. Find home furnishings at Niche and the Official Cardinals Team Store at Busch Stadium. The historic Railway Exchange Building is home to downtown's refurbished Macy's, which stocks anything you forgot to bring along.

EAT Try award-winning barbecue, elegant four-star Italian or a St. Louis-style chili parlor. You'll also find sushi, Mexican, Irish pubs, steakhouses and everything you'll want to check off your dining list. Find a place with a view of the Gateway Arch or just grab a sidewalk table for two. Visit the restaurant listings in this guide for detailed suggestions.

SEE Citygarden, an outdoor sculpture park, brings whimsy and joy to the downtown landscape. Take in the entire Gateway Arch experience by riding to the top of the nation's tallest monument, visiting the Museum of Westward Expansion and cruising the Mississippi on the Gateway Arch Riverboats. Run through City Museum's indoor playgrounds of recycled fun and marvel at the interior and exterior design of the National Historic Landmark Union Station. Enjoy the grand reopening of the St. Louis Public Library.

FACTOID One of the most important court actions in American history took place in downtown St. Louis' Old Courthouse. The Dred Scott slavery trials helped lead the nation to civil war.

GO Downtown St. Louis is just 13 miles from Lambert-St. Louis International Airport. MetroLink light rail stops at Laclede's Landing, the Convention Center, Busch Stadium, Scottrade Center and Union Station downtown. www.downtownstl.org, (314) 436-6500.

Soulard

PLAY Stop in the neighborhood's blues music clubs any night to listen to the authentic sounds of old St. Louis and party with your pals. Mardi Gras, one of the biggest celebrations in the nation, takes place in this fun-loving district for two weeks leading up to Fat Tuesday, February 12, 2013. Join in the fun at the world's largest pet parade, the Grand Parade, a Cajun Cookoff, a wine event and much more. Bastille Day parties in July begin with the mock beheading of French royalty and end with music, food and drinks. Soulard Oktoberfest celebrates the area's German heritage with another enormous outdoor party in the fall.

SHOP In operation since 1799, Soulard Farmers Market is the epicenter for vibrant multicolored produce and fascinating prepared foods. Don't miss the spice shop or the flower vendors. Nearby, The Porch sells gifts, found objects and fine wines.

EAT Savor the taste of St. Louis' specialties in the hidden courtyards of Soulard's restaurants including Hammerstone's, the Great Grizzly Bear, Big Daddy's, Joanie's Pizzeria and Nadine's Gin Joint. There's always a side of St. Louis blues music with your meal. Soulard Coffee Garden will provide the caffeine for your neighborhood romp. Franco serves French specialties and Soulard's Restaurant gives St. Louis favorites a gourmet flair. Skip the white tablecloth and go directly to Tucker's Steak House, often voted best in its category, for great Midwestern beef.

SEE The area's homes are a mélange of styles that add up to a totally St. Louis look—red brick, Mansard roofs and ornamentation made of cast iron, wrought iron and terra cotta.

GEORGE DENNINGSTON

Soulard Farmers Market

FACTOID The neighborhood is named for Antoine Soulard, a Frenchman who surveyed the area for the king of Spain when St. Louis was Spanish territory. His widow provided the land where Soulard Market sits today with the understanding it would remain a public market space forever.

GO To reach Soulard, head south on Broadway from downtown and continue on Seventh Street to Lafayette, Russell or Geyer. www.soulardthecity.com.

Clayton

PLAY The Greater St. Louis Art Fair, held in Clayton in September, is one of the nation's top juried events. Taste of Clayton brings the area's favorite foods to the streets in June. A farmers market is held each Saturday during the growing season, and Shaw Park blooms with Parties in the Park, monthly from May through September.

SHOP Antiques, boutiques and specialty stores line the streets of this chic center of St. Louis County government. Try Extra Virgin, an Olive Ovation to give your taste buds something to think about.

EAT With more than 80 thriving restaurants to choose from, Clayton offers foodies a wealth of options. Enjoy the sophisticated plates at The Crossing and Roxane, or tastes of Italy at Dominic's Trattoria and The Pasta House Co. Major-league steaks are sizzling at Morton's, Ruth's Chris and J. Buck's.

SEE Thought-provoking public art from Botero, Renoir, Trova and Milles are on display along Clayton's streets. Look for the Shoe of Shoes, a giant high heel made entirely of high heels, honoring St. Louis' footwear-industry roots.

FACTOID Clayton is the seat of St. Louis County government, established on donated farmland after the city of St. Louis split from the county in 1876.

GO From downtown, take I-64 west to the Hanley exit north. Or take MetroLink light rail to the Clayton station. From the airport, follow I-170 north to the Ladue Road exit east. www.claytonmo.gov/visitor or www.claytoncommerce.com, (314) 726-3033.

TIP

GET FRESH! Farmers markets make seasonal appearances in Tower Grove Park, Webster Groves, Clayton, Kirkwood, Maplewood, Ferguson and Overland, and all year long at historic Soulard Farmers Market, just south of downtown.

DAN DONOVAN

The Loop/University City

PLAY Check with Blueberry Hill to see when St. Louis' own Chuck Berry will be playing in the Duck Room or catch a concert by the hottest up-and-coming bands at The Pageant. The Tivoli, a restored 1929 movie theater, offers cinematic entertainment all year and takes center stage in November for the annual St. Louis International Film Festival. Roll a game or two at Pin Up Bowl, where cocktails and bowling actually do go together.

SHOP The Loop is the place for comic books and graphic novels, fast bikes, vinyl records, world crafts, retro clothing, funky home goods and some of the world's most offbeat retail items.

EAT With apologies to Samuel Johnson, when you are tired of The Loop, you are tired of life. Use any random selection method—eenie, meenie, miney, moe will do—and join the happy crowds at any one of this neighborhood's spectacular collection of restaurants. Choose from Thai, Mediterranean, pub fare, pizza, sushi and an exhaustive list of offerings that are both palate pleasing and cost conscious. Browse The Loop restaurant listings in this guide for all the options.

SEE The life-sized bronze statue of Chuck Berry, stars honoring famous residents on the St. Louis Walk of Fame and the Planet Walk—a street-side view of our solar system—are highlights.

FACTOID The Loop has been declared "One of the 10 Great Streets in America" by the American Planning Association.

GO From downtown, take I-64 west to the Clayton Road exit (at the giant Amoco sign), turn north on Skinker to Delmar. From the airport, drive I-170 north to the Delmar exit east. Or, ride MetroLink light rail to the Delmar/Loop station. www.visittheloop.com, (314) 727-8000.

NEIGHBORHOODNEWS

BIG NAMES HAIL FROM THE VILLE

St. Louis' current nickname might be "The Lou," but in years past it was The Ville that had everyone talking about our community. This neighborhood northwest of downtown produced some of the nation's most notable bold-face names in the 20th century. African-American professionals built homes, businesses, schools and healthcare facilities here.

Music was changed forever by the Ville-raised opera singer Grace Bumbry and rock 'n' roll legend Chuck Berry. Sports received tennis great Arthur Ashe from The Ville. Activist and civil rights leader Dick Gregory also called this neighborhood home.

Women became more confident thanks to a Ville entrepreneur named Annie Turnbo Pope Malone, who made millions creating and selling beauty products. Her bequests are still changing lives today with a children's home that bears her name and an annual parade and festival held in her honor.

The Ville was home to early and important institutions, including Homer G. Phillips Hospital, a teaching hospital for African-American medical professionals, and Sumner High School, the first high school for blacks west of the Mississippi River. Churches established in the neighborhood in the 19th century are still important parts of the community today.

The area's famous personalities are honored on the Ville Monument at the corner of Martin Luther King and Sarah. From downtown, take I-64 west to Grand north to Martin Luther King west to Sarah. <http://stlouis.missouri.org/ville>, (314) 534-8015.

Cherokee Antique Row

PLAY The sweetest thing about the holiday season is the Cherokee Antique Row Cookie Walk each December. Visit the shopkeepers, browse for gifts and taste a selection of freshly baked treats.

SHOP We're talking St. Louis' most interesting conglomeration of antiques and collectibles along this six-block stretch of Cherokee Street. Left behind by prior generations, items offered range from Victorian furniture and antique hardware to sleek moderne and vintage items fit for a Mad Men set.

EAT You'll find plenty of places near the stores to find a bite during your shopping excursion. Cross Jefferson Avenue to the west for an authentic taste of Mexico at a variety of restaurants, stores and bakeries.

SEE Take a self-guided walk along Cherokee Street where brass plaques note the history of the red-brick structures, once home to German immigrants. Experience life in old St. Louis on a tour of the Greek Revival Chatillon-DeMenil Mansion or visit the Lemp Mansion, home of the ill-fated beer barons and considered one of the most haunted houses in America. A real-life "Ghostbuster" leads regularly scheduled tours.

Cherokee Street's Antique Row

FACTOID Tours of the neighboring Anheuser-Busch Brewery are free. Be sure to see the famous Clydesdale hitch in their spotless and ornate stable.

GO From downtown, take Jefferson Avenue to Cherokee Street and head east for Antique Row or west for Mexican specialties. Or, take Broadway south to Seventh Street to Cherokee Street and DeMenil Place. www.antiquerow.org, (314) 776-6410.

The Grove

PLAY Get your groove on in The Grove this year. Located on Manchester between Kingshighway and Vandeventer, this neighborhood is a welcoming and diverse center for the LGBT community and everyone else in St. Louis. Annual events include Wig Stomp, an LGBT street festival in July; the Tour de Grove professional bike event in May and the Grove Fest street party in October.

SHOP More than 50 businesses make this revitalized district their home. Look for shops selling recycled bikes, books, skateboards, new and repurposed furniture and contemporary fashion.

EAT From soul-food hospitality to late-night Tex Mex, there's always something cooking in The Grove. Interested in the exotic? You'll find Lebanese, Nepalese and Afghan restaurants along the lively stretch of Manchester and its side streets.

SEE Be on the lookout for drag star Dieta Pepsi, The Grove's hostess with the mostest, at special events throughout the year.

FACTOID The Grove is known for its quirky approach to the visual environment with public and street art on display.

GO From downtown, take I-64 west to the Kingshighway south exit and turn east on Manchester. www.thegrovestl.com, (314) 535-5311.

Dining al fresco on The Landing

Laclede's Landing

PLAY Riverboat gamblers arrived by steamboat in St. Louis' historic past. Today they come by planes, trains and cars to the nearby Las Vegas-style Lumière Place Casino. Three music events bring big crowds to the historic riverfront entertainment district each year—Rockin' on the Landing over Independence Day, the Big Muddy Blues Festival on Labor Day weekend and Rocktoberfest in October.

SHOP The Landing is known for its restaurants, bars, clubs and nightlife, but the neighborhood's best buy is a horse-drawn carriage ride along the cobblestone streets, where you'll get a great view of the Arch and Mississippi River.

EAT A popular spot for lunches and late-night eats, The Landing is teeming with great dining and nightlife options. Twist some pasta at The Old Spaghetti Factory, taste sushi at The Drunken Fish and experience local microbrews at Morgan Street Brewery. Hannegan's has a full menu in a clubby historic setting. Sundecker's, Big Daddy's and Show Me's are ready to party any time.

SEE Look up and marvel at the 1874 Eads Bridge spanning the Mississippi River and carrying MetroLink trains from Missouri to Illinois. It was the first bridge to use steel truss construction and builders proved its safety to worried citizens by walking an elephant over the span.

FACTOID The district is named in honor of Pierre Laclede, the French fur trader who founded St. Louis in 1764.

GO Get to the district by riding MetroLink light rail to the Laclede's Landing station. Or, take the Memorial Drive exit to Washington Avenue east. www.lacledeslanding.com, (314) 241-5875.

The Hill

PLAY This Italian neighborhood near the Missouri Botanical Garden, and not far from Forest Park, still embraces the traditions of the Old World mixed with a new sense of fun. See the St. Joseph Day celebration in March and enjoy the turn out traditional Italian pastries, cakes and breads beginning early each morning. Take a box of cannoli or colorful Italian cookies home as a tasty souvenir.

SEE The Hill honors its ancestors with a statue dedicated to the founding immigrant families in front of St. Ambrose Catholic Church. Many neighborhood residents are descended from the Italians who arrived to work in the clay mines in the late 1800s. Spot the bocce courts where the lawn bowling game is a serious pastime. And watch for the Italian flag's red, white and green tricolor painted on fireplugs to mark the neighborhood's boundaries.

FACTOID Baseball Hall of Famers Yogi Berra and Joe Garagiola grew up on The Hill's Elizabeth Avenue and another Hall inductee—beloved announcer Jack Buck—lived there as well. The street is now dubbed Hall of Fame Place. On Daggett Avenue, soccer fans can pay homage to the 1950 U.S. team that toppled powerhouse England in the greatest upset in World Cup history. Plaques honor the six amateur players and assistant coach recruited from The Hill. The Hollywood movie, Game of Their Lives, tells the inspiring story.

GO From downtown, drive west on I-64 or I-44 to Kingshighway south and turn west on Shaw. www.thehill-stl.org, (314) 647-6222 Ext. 304.

Anthonino's Taverna

Wine Walk in May. A bike race, Giro di Montagna, is held in September and the Columbus Day parade winds its way through the narrow streets to Berra Park in October. St. Ambrose parish's La Festa also is held in October. Christmas on the Hill is the first Saturday in December, with carols, shopping and special events at the church.

SHOP Expect to be overwhelmed by the scents and tastes of the neighborhood's Italian specialty stores. They ship salami, prosciutto and other meats around the world and shoppers can take home the ingredients for their own Italian feasts.

EAT Bring your appetite to The Hill, just 10 minutes from downtown, where more than 15 restaurants are clustered in this delicious district. If you want upscale fare, reserve a spot at Dominic's, Charlie Gitto's or LoRusso's. For high-end food in a laid-back atmosphere, take a seat at Anthonino's, Brazie's, Cunetto House of Pasta, Favazza's, Gian-Tony's, Guido's, Zia's or Mama Campisi's. Bakeries

World Chess Hall of Fame

Central West End

PLAY Checkmate. The area is now home to the World Chess Hall of Fame and its giant statue of the board's king piece. With its neighbor, the Chess Club & Scholastic Center of Saint Louis, the two attractions are putting St. Louis on the map as the "Gateway to Chess." Annual events include the Central West End Association House Tour each May, Movies on the Plaza and hip Halloween festivities.

SHOP Antique and art galleries, independent bookstores and one of the nation's most famous chocolate boutiques are dotted along these stylish streets.

EAT St. Louisans love to eat outdoors, so grab a table at one of the CWE's sidewalk seating areas for wonderful food and even better people watching. For satisfying local flavor consider the venerable Duff's, Liluma or Bixby's at the Missouri History Museum. The original Llywelyn's Pub graces the neighborhood with a popular beer garden. Pickles Deli is rumored to have St. Louis' best Reuben.

SEE The neighborhood is the front door to Forest Park and its attractions. See the Central West End's stunning century-old homes, tucked away on "private places," streets owned by the residents. You can enjoy the styles from the turn of the 20th century on a pleasant walk using Euclid Avenue as your path.

FACTOID Playwright Tennessee Williams lived in the Central West End and based his play The Glass Menagerie on life here. See his bust on Writers' Corner at Euclid and McPherson, where he watches over the street with two other famous residents, T.S. Eliot and Kate Chopin.

GO From downtown take I-64 west to the Kingshighway north exit and turn east on Maryland Avenue or Forest Park Parkway. Go north or south on Euclid Avenue to drive through the neighborhood's heart. Or, hop aboard MetroLink light rail to the Central West End station. www.thecwe.org, (314) 367-2220.

Lafayette Square

PLAY The spring home-and-garden tour in June and holiday parlor tours in December give visitors a chance to see inside the neighborhood's historic homes. A professional bike race runs rings around Lafayette Park in September. You can see baseball the way its founders intended at a St. Louis Perfectos vintage "base ball" game played by the original 1860s rules in the park.

SHOP Find French-themed items at Rue Lafayette and a variety of gifts for yourself and others at the neighborhood's other shops. Gourmet foods and wines are on the gift list at Grand Petite Market at Vin de Set.

EAT Start or end an evening with food and drinks at Ricardo's. Vin de Set is known for its take on French food and its gorgeous rooftop views, while Eleven Eleven Mississippi evokes Tuscany. PW Pizza provides gluten-free and vegan options along with the regular menu. Dessert must be one of 74 varieties of gooey butter cake at Park Avenue Coffee.

SEE House voyeurs will love the Victorian "painted ladies" ringing historic Lafayette Park. Noted as one of the prettiest painted places in America, the collection of French Second Empire townhouses is a breathtaking peek into the past.

FACTOID This pretty neighborhood was named for the

Lafayette Square's "Painted Ladies"

Marquis de Lafayette, the French aristocrat who helped General Washington during the American Revolution. He visited St. Louis in 1825 to the delight of its French citizens.

GO From downtown take Broadway south to Park and turn west or follow Jefferson south to Park and turn east. www.lafayettesquare.org, (314) 772-5724.

Carondelet

PLAY You'll find some of the oldest homes in St. Louis in this charming neighborhood. In a nod to its French heritage, Bastille Day is celebrated on July 14 at South St. Louis Square Park in true St. Louis style—with a barbecue. At 180 acres, Carondelet Park is one of the largest outdoor recreation areas in the city. Concerts are held in the park throughout the summer. Engineer James Buchanan Eads constructed his ironclad warships for the Union Navy from a boatyard in Carondelet during the Civil War. A marker on Broadway commemorates his contributions. Pair a visit to Carondelet with a stop at nearby Jefferson Barracks Park and the impressive National Cemetery.

SHOP Cruise Broadway, which cuts a north/south swath through Carondelet, to see a collection of businesses that have been operating in the same locations for generations.

EAT The neighborhood is bordered by the River City Casino where you can sample a grand buffet, eat at the 1904 Steak House, enjoy a cold frosty one at The Beerhouse or grab a gourmet burger at Burger Brothers.

SEE Famous Carondelet resident Susan Blow opened the nation's first kindergarten here in 1873. Tour her classroom at the Carondelet Historical Society in the former Des Peres School. Look for the mural representing the spirit and history of this neighborhood along Broadway Street.

FACTOID Founded in 1767 along the Mississippi River south of St. Louis, the French village of Carondelet was nicknamed "vide poche," which means "empty pocket," thanks to the residents' gambling skills. Carondelet became part of the city of St. Louis in 1870.

GO From downtown, take I-55 south to the Loughborough exit. From I-270, take I-55 north to the Loughborough exit. www.carondelethousing.org, (314) 752-6339.

Webster Groves

PLAY Special events in this charming and leafy suburb include the Paint Webster Plein Art Event in May, the Art & Air festival in June, a popular farmers market from May through October, the Old Webster Jazz and Blues Festival in September and holiday events in the shopping districts. Home to the world-renowned Opera Theatre of Saint Louis and the St. Louis Repertory Theatre, there is no shortage of activity in art-loving Webster Groves.

SHOP The Old Orchard, Old Webster and Crossroads shopping districts entice visitors to spend time with the friendly shopkeepers who sell everything imaginable, including personalized gift items at The Initial Design and Embroider the Occasion. Ice princesses fill their needs at Go Figure Skates, while Lady Bug Beads is your headquarters for jewelry-making materials.

EAT Ice-cream lovers should visit Dr. Jazz for old-fashioned soda-fountain fun. Llwellyn's Pub offers a Celtic connection in St. Louis.

Opera Theatre of Saint Louis

SEE Enjoy a drive through Webster's tree-lined streets to see an architecturally significant collection of century-plus-old homes. Home tour guide books are available at City Hall. Public art lines the streets—be on the lookout for the whimsical Backflip near Webster University.

FACTOID CNN Money named Webster Groves to its list of the best places to live in the U.S.A.

Manchester Road in Maplewood

Maplewood

PLAY The annual Let Them Eat Art event in July pulls visitors happily down the rabbit hole into a mélange of performance art, live music, artist demonstrations and all manner of merry mayhem in a quirky homage to Bastille Day. Schlafly Bottleworks hosts the Art Outside alternative art fair in September and the Fresh Hop beer festival in October. Their Cabin Fever outdoor winter beer fest will warm you up in January and a farmers market is hosted on-site Wednesdays during growing season. Maplewood's Art Walks are scheduled regularly throughout the year.

SHOP Gisele brings a bit of Paris to St. Louis with French romantic-inspired gifts and indulgences. Treasure Aisles Antique Mall has something for everyone. Visit Kakao Chocolate for barks and hand-dipped truffles made from all-natural ingredients in the shop. Maven presents chic hand-made bath-and-body products, as well as gifts.

EAT Schlafly Bottleworks celebrates St. Louis' brewing heritage and pairs delicious dining with their own beers. Water Street specializes in vintage cocktail mixology. Acero serves only Italian wines with their lovely homemade pastas. Maya Café takes diners on a romp through the foods of Central and South America. Home Wine Kitchen and The Crow's Nest are known for comfort food.

SEE Saratoga Lanes, opened in 1916 and noted as the oldest bowling alley west of the Mississippi, is still rolling today. Drop by to see how your grandparents partied and watch out for the gutters.

FACTOID This stretch of Manchester in Maplewood was once part of the Mother Road. A Route 66 tribute and plaques honor the historic highway.

Grand Center

PLAY The arts and entertainment district of St. Louis, Grand Center is the epicenter of First Night, an arts-inspired New Year's Eve celebration. Throughout the year, special events include an Art Walk in May, Thursdays @ The Intersection concerts from May through September, St. Lou Fringe performing arts festival in June and Dancing in the Street outdoor performances in September.

SHOP With more than 12,000 theatre seats and a dozen performance venues in the district, the best item to purchase in Grand Center is a ticket to one of the events taking place throughout the year. Visit www.explorestlouis.com or check www.MetroTix.com to match your travel dates with a performance.

EAT The busy campus of Saint Louis University adjoins Grand Center, so there is always something tantalizing and affordable for lunch or dinner in this artsy district. If burgers are more your speed, check out Dooley's Beef •n• Brew House, a British-themed pub, serving a half-dozen creative meals on a bun. After hours, be sure to savor an Ice Cream Martini at The Fountain on Locust, "the most photographed restaurant in St. Louis."

SEE Enjoy the newest touring Broadway productions at the Fabulous Fox Theatre, built in 1929 as a spectacular movie palace and restored to its original and opulent condition. The St. Louis Symphony Orchestra performs in Powell Hall, designed after the French palace of Versailles. The Black Rep is on stage at the Grandel Theatre and some of the world's finest performers stop at Jazz at the Bistro. Don't miss ever-changing exhibitions at the Pulitzer Foundation for the Arts, the Contemporary Art Museum, the Saint Louis University Museum of Art and the Sheldon Art Galleries.

FACTOID Lindy Hop St. Louis offers weekly swing dance classes for beginners or experienced hepcats, along with a swing night every Tuesday evening in the Grandel Theatre's Grand Hall.

GO From downtown, drive I-64 west to the Grand exit north or take MetroLink light rail to the Grand Center station and walk north. www.grandcenter.org, (314) 289-1500.

South Grand

PLAY See what's inside the area's magnificent homes during the Grand South Grand House Tour in April. Pridefest welcomes LGBT visitors and residents for a colorful parade and party in June. The annual International Dine Around is held in June, making it easy to sample the neighborhood's flavors all at once. St. Louis' immigrant communities are celebrated during the Festival of Nations in August with food, music and international arts.

SHOP Global food stores, Chinese bakeries and Asian import shops are just some of the retail fun you'll find on a visit to this diverse and lively district.

EAT The addition of wider sidewalks, shade trees and colorful planters has given restaurants on South Grand new, outdoor dining space. Be prepared to sample the world by trying Vietnamese pho—a noodle soup—or fresh spring rolls, Chinese buns called bao stuffed with savory or sweet fillings or elegant sushi creations. The Piper Palm House's Café Madeleine offers visitors a lovely place to relax during brunch each Sunday in Tower Grove Park. Food Truck Fridays, held once a month in summer and fall, bring rolling restaurants to the park's picnic areas.

Blue Owl Restaurant & Bakery in Kimmswick has had its "fare" share—pun intended—of fame on the Food Network as well, and Oprah named its levee-high pies as one of her "Top 100 Holiday Favorite Things."

TO MARKET, TO MARKET

When you come to St. Louis, eat like the locals at the bountiful farmers markets. You can find fresh produce, seasonal fruits and artisan-crafted foods perfect for snacking on the run—all raised, grown or created within the region.

Soulard Farmers Market, the granddaddy of them all, has been open in the same spot south of downtown since 1779. Ulysses S. Grant once sold his farm's wood at the market before he became famous as a Civil War general and president of the United States. Today you'll find exotic spices, meats, baked goods and beautiful veggies Wednesdays through Saturdays.

Suburban Webster Groves offers an open-air market experience each Thursday afternoon during growing season. In nearby Kirkwood, the market is open daily year-round. The market at Tower Grove Park is a Saturday morning ritual along with others in Clayton and Ferguson. The Schlafly Farmers

Great Streets in America™

—American Planning Association

History of the Area

During the last 40 years, the Delmar Loop has evolved into one of the most vibrant and entertaining areas in the United States.

The gradual turnaround of The Loop began in the early 1970s with legislation that limited occupancy of first floor storefronts to retail shops, galleries and restaurants to attract more pedestrians. Nationally renowned restaurant and music club Blueberry Hill was the first of a new era of unique owner-operated businesses.

The sidewalks along Delmar Blvd. were widened to encourage foot traffic and outdoor cafés.

In the 1980s dusk-to-dawn lights, trash receptacles and flower planters were added to make The Loop brighter, cleaner and more colorful.

The non-profit St. Louis Walk of Fame was founded and became a unifying attraction for the area. Now more than 130 stars and informative plaques are embedded in the sidewalks.

In the 1990s the Delmar Loop MetroLink station opened. Visitors can ride a clean, quick light-rail train right to The Loop and begin their visit by walking west.

In 1995 the elegant Tivoli Movie Theatre was beautifully restored and, along with many new gift shops and clothing boutiques, signaled that The Loop had arrived.

Expansion into the City of St. Louis started in 2000 with the grand opening of The Pageant, a 2,000+ capacity concert nightclub that has featured artists such as Bob Dylan, Outkast, Green Day, Dolly Parton and Foo Fighters. Many consider The Loop to be the live music center of St. Louis with 10 stages on which you can enjoy music of all genres. Soon after, Pin-Up Bowl bowling and martini lounge opened.

Exciting new attractions include the luxury boutique Moonrise Hotel and casual fine dining Eclipse Restaurant; the Delmar Loop Planet Walk in which one can take a 3 billion mile walk (2,880 feet) from the Sun to Neptune, enjoying the scale model of the solar system; the new Chuck Berry Statue, an eight-foot bronze statue dedicated to the Father of Rock & Roll; and the Centennial Greenway bicycle and pedestrian trail. In spring of 2014 a new fixed-track historic trolley will connect The Loop with two MetroLink stations and Forest Park attractions. ❖

The Loop is located just 20 minutes from Lambert Airport and downtown St. Louis, five minutes from the Clayton business district and within walking distance of Washington University. Visitors can also ride MetroLink to the Delmar Loop station and walk west – it's that easy!

Gooey Butter Cake

GOOEY BUTTER CAKE

WHAT St. Louis' old-style German bakeries originated this treat when they mistakenly underbaked a butter-loaded coffee cake and dusted the delectable results with powdered sugar. Today you can find the dessert in endless varieties, from chocolate chip to pumpkin, but purists think original is the best.

WHERE Gooley Louie, Park Avenue Coffee

TOASTED RAVIOLI

WHAT Another restaurant mishap turned into a delicious St. Louis appetizer when a traditional ravioli slipped into the fryer at a restaurant on The Hill, St. Louis' Italian neighborhood.

ST. LOUIS-STYLE PIZZA

WHAT It's a crackery thin crust spread with rich, sweet tomato sauce, covered in tangy provol cheese (a processed blend of cheddar, Swiss and Provolone) and cut into squares instead of pie sections.

WHERE Imo's is the original

SLINGERS

WHAT They're a St. Louis chili-parlor staple consisting of two hamburger patties (or sausage is an acceptable alternative) nested under hash brown potatoes, covered with chili and topped with cheese, onions and fried eggs.

CONE-SIDER THIS

St. Louis introduced the ice cream cone at the 1904 World's Fair. Today, the frosty treat remains a sensation. Scoop up the good stuff at these cool stops.

Art deco decor and the restroom voted the "prettiest loo in The Lou" provide the sparkle while adult-beverage-infused ice cream drinks pack the punch at The Fountain on Locust in Midtown Alley.

Take in an ice cream parlor in Webster Groves. An entire family can dip into the 12-scoop, multi-topped "Brain Freeze" at Dr. Jazz Ice Cream Parlor and Diner.

Buoy your spirits with a fizzy float from Fitz's Bottling Company, a soda pop microbrewery in The Loop. All roads lead to St. Louis' dessert king of the road—Ted Drewes Frozen Custard on Route 66 or park yourself at Tower Grove Creamery to enjoy flavorful ice cream from Missouri's own Central Dairy Company. If gelato is your thing, try Benito's Gelato made by Ces & Judy's Catering. It's available at Culinaria and other locations around St. Louis.

STICKY FINGERS

Give kids the go-ahead to play with their food. Here are the top picks for finger-licking bites kids find fun to eat.

Toasted ravioli Find it on menus all over town. Kids love the crunch and easy-to-hold stuffed pillow of pasta
Mac 'n' cheese Adventurous eaters can mix-and-mac to create dozens of combos at Cheese-o-logy in The Loop.

PB&J Peanut butter, the ubiquitous staple on kids' culinary wish lists, was invented by a St. Louis physician in 1880. PB meets J and freshly baked bread at St. Louis Bread Company (Panera Bread) cafés.

Nachos If your crew is crying for nachos, mama, head to Schlafly Bottleworks where the crispy treats are topped with spiced bison meat.

Pancakes Flip over the hotcakes and funky vibe at City Diner on South Grand.

PERFORMING ARTS

In St. Louis, we dance in the streets, sing out loud and draw on the walls in celebration of the arts.

See critically acclaimed Opera Theatre of Saint Louis where classics and new works are sung in English by the best young talent in the nation. In 2013, Champion, an opera in jazz, premieres.

As they say at the St. Louis Symphony, “you have to hear it live” at Powell Hall in the Grand Center arts and entertainment district. One of the oldest symphonies in the nation, SLSO presents more than 100 concerts during its season.

Repertory Theatre of St. Louis

St. Louis is proud home to both the Black Rep and the Repertory Theatre of St. Louis, each praised as among the best companies in the country with seasons of drama, comedy and music. The Fabulous Fox Theatre provides an elegant stage for touring Broadway shows and the Peabody Opera House delights audiences year-round. Dance St. Louis brings the globe’s top companies to the area for regular performances. Stages St. Louis enters its 27th season of “Broadway in St. Louis” in summer 2013. The Muny—a tradition since 1917—produces Broadway revival musicals in America’s largest outdoor theatre. The Shakespeare Festival St. Louis presents the Bard’s works each May and June.

ST. LOUIS GOLF FUN FACTS

⚡ The 1904 Olympiad, held in St. Louis, was the first and last time that golf was an official Olympic sport. Golf will be reinstated during the 2016 Summer Games in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

⚡ Missouri-born PGA champion Hale Irwin designed the acclaimed public course in St. Louis’ Forest Park. Three separate nine-hole courses can be combined to be played as different 18-hole combinations. The three nine-hole par-35 courses, on lush zoysia fairways, are named for St. Louis-area trees: Hawthorn, Dogwood and Redbud.

⚡ In 1920, St. Louisan George H. Walker put up a trophy for competition between United States and British amateur golfers. The Walker

Cup, contested every other year, is still one of golf’s most treasured prizes. Walker was president of the United States Golf Association and the grandfather and namesake of U.S. President George W. Bush.

⚡ Upcoming major golf events in St. Louis include the 2014 Curtis Cup Match, which is the women’s version of the Walker Cup, and the Centennial PGA Championship in 2018.

⚡ Dancing gophers don’t pop up at St. Louis golf courses, but this bit of trivia is a fun bit for 19th-hole banter: Harold Ramis, director and co-writer of the classic golf comedy Caddyshack, is an alum of Washington University in St. Louis.

LGBT

Touted by Fodor's travel guides as one of the top spots for gay travel in the U.S., St. Louis is friendly and fun. Drop in at the LGBT Center of St. Louis for resources or recommendations. Then head to the hip Grove district where it's always ladies night at Novak's. Everyone is welcome at the drag king shows on Monday nights, drag queens on Saturdays or the drag brunch on Sundays hosted by St. Louis' own Dieta Pepsi. Nearby, Erney's 32 is named for the temperature of its state-of-the-art VODBOX vodka cooler. Just John's offers dance club fun for the guys throughout the week and celebrates the ladies each Wednesday at an event called JANE. Wrap up the evening with an ice cream martini at the Fountain on Locust where burlesque shows entertain all.

COUPLES

Snuggle together in the candlelight serenaded by the world's best musicians at Jazz at the Bistro, an intimate listening room in the Grand Center arts and entertainment district. Visit BB's Jazz, Blues and Soups or the Broadway Oyster Bar downtown and Robbie's House of Jazz in Webster Groves to hear the locals play St. Louis' own time-tested tunes. Park the car anywhere in the Souldard neighborhood and wander among St. Louis' famous blues clubs, including Hammerstone's, Nadine's Gin Joint and 1860s Saloon and Hardshell Café. Romantic rockers should head for The Loop where hometowner Chuck Berry (yes, that Chuck Berry) may be playing at Blueberry Hill, and the nation's most popular touring shows are packing them in at The Pageant. More sedate tunes greet a mellow crowd gathered in the see-and-be-seen oasis of the Ritz Carlton's lobby lounge.

MY ST. LOUIS

KYLE ULMER

TRAINER, SAINT LOUIS ZOO

Kyle Ulmer teaches his students hurdle jumps, balancing skills and basketball dunks. He's not a P.E. instructor at an area school, but the head trainer in charge of sea lions and seals at the Saint Louis Zoo's First Bank Sea Lion Show.

"These creatures are smart and quite the showoffs," Ulmer says of his flipped cast. "They seem to enjoy performing and are so cute that no one cares if they miss a cue." Needless to say, the zoo's new Sea Lion Sound exhibit and show top Kyle's list of must-see sights in St. Louis.

Kyle also gives his seal of approval to another great animal attraction: Grant's Farm. "It's great fun for families and the price is right—you can't beat free admission." He has another reason to love the place: he met his wife, Kristen, there when they trained birds for the animal encounter shows.

MY ST. LOUIS

CHRISTINE ELLIS

CARRIAGE DRIVER,
ST. LOUIS CARRIAGE COMPANY

A love of horses and St. Louis' history led Christine Ellis to her career with St. Louis Carriage Company where she helps visitors explore St. Louis. You'll find her, and often her little Yorkie named Toby, perched on the driver's seat of a horse-drawn carriage in the historic Laclede's Landing entertainment district.

"Everyone wants to know about how St. Louis was founded," says Christine. "I tell them the story of Pierre Laclede and the French heritage of our town while we ride along the river."

Her horse Curley is a big, dark Percheron. "They're known as the gentle giants of the horse world," she explains.

On work days Curley is decked out in colorful braids and a variety of equine bling, including a halter that sports his name in silver. The inseparable duo have been showing St. Louis to visitors at a clip-clop pace for 14 years.

"I tell all my passengers that they have to go see the Arch and they're surprised you can actually ride to the top for a great view of St. Louis."

Other attractions on her tip list include City Museum ("there's no other place like it") and a Gateway Riverboat cruise. She also recommends a visit to see the Clydesdales—"the kings of St. Louis horses"—at the Anheuser-Busch Brewery tour or at Grant's Farm.

WANT TO KNOW MORE ABOUT CURLEY AND CHRISTINE? LIKE THEM ON FACEBOOK AT CURLEY ELLIS, OR SEE WWW.STLOUISCARRIAGECOMPANY.COM.

Outdoor dining in The Loop neighborhood

DINING No doubt about it. St. Louis is a great restaurant town. No matter where you're staying, you'll be surrounded by fine-dining options and original St. Louis restaurants. The area is known for its creative Italian cuisine, but smoky barbecue, Asian, Mediterranean and the freshest locally sourced foods are easy to find in the region's fun and friendly neighborhood establishments. Dress up or dress down. You'll find many options in these restaurant listings to match the way you like to dine. Don't forget to try St. Louis' quirky local foods, including toasted ravioli; gooey butter cake; slingers; barbecue pork steaks; and St. Louis-style pizza-cracker-thin and cut into delicious squares.

..... MY ST. LOUIS

| EVAN MAKOVSKY

He's young, single and host of his own show on a St. Louis all-sports radio station. Evan Makovsky can talk sports, but he's not shy about singing the praises of his adopted hometown.

"I grew up in New York, but often visited St. Louis to visit my grandfather," Evan says. "Seeing the Arch for the first time as a kid was an awe-inspiring sight. It just means St. Louis. Forest Park is probably my favorite spot in St. Louis. Most people don't know that it's almost twice the size of New York's Central Park."

Evan encourages visitors to spend some time in his neighborhood—the Central West End, or CWE. "It's a great cosmopolitan area. Perfect for people watching at a sidewalk café and has superb restaurants and unique shops." His favorite CWE bar, Sub-Zero, was frequented by Hollywood hunk George Clooney when he was filming in St. Louis a few years back.

The sports expert knows the score on where singles meet and mingle, citing chic boutique bars in Clayton like Café Napoli and Barcelona, and the late-night clubs along Washington Avenue downtown. "The Loop is hard to beat for live music at The Pageant and Blueberry Hill. And, I'm a fanatic for the sushi at Ginger Bistro."

"For my business, I'm lucky that St. Louis is such a great sports town. For my daily life, I'm proud to now to call it home."

YOU CAN HEAR EVAN WEEKDAYS FROM 6 TO 9 A.M. ON SPORTSRADIO 1380 AM, WWW.EMAKSHOW.COM.

MY ST. LOUISERIC C. RHONE

PRESIDENT & CEO, VISIONS MANAGEMENT GROUP, INC.

Managing fun has been Eric C. Rhone's life work. The St. Louis-based entertainment mogul has guided the career of pal Cedric the Entertainer since his college days. "We two St. Louis guys have come a long way together," says Eric.

The dynamic duo's latest co-production, the hit TV family comedy, Soul Man, stars Cedric as a very funny preacher who lives with his family in—where else?—St. Louis. Another Gateway City grad-turned-Hollywood star, Niecy Nash, plays Ced's wife on the show.

Will some of Eric's favorite St. Louis places be mentioned on Soul Man? "You'll have to tune in to see," chuckles the always smiling Rhone. Hint: if the scripts ever mention the incredible pancakes from the Goody Goody Diner or the lush Cigar Club at the Ritz-Carlton St. Louis, you'll know.

COURTESY OF JIVE AND WAIL

NIGHTLIFE John Lennon said, "If you tried to give rock 'n' roll another name, you might call it 'Chuck Berry.'" The Father of Rock 'n' Roll still plays monthly at Blueberry Hill in St. Louis' Loop neighborhood. Tickets sell fast, so make plans ahead of time to see this legend in action. St. Louis is music heaven for blues lovers. Visit clubs in the Souldard neighborhood south of downtown for a late-night session with living legends. Casinos offer gaming action throughout the region and entertainment districts like LaCledes Landing and Westport Plaza are made for late-night fun with nightclubs, brew pubs, music and dancing with the party-loving locals.
